

PERU

INTERCONNECTION STUDY
ROAD TACNA - LA PAZ

Client	UNOPS, Lima
Financing	Gobierno Regional de Tacna
Duration of Services	07/2009 – 04/2011
Value of Services	521 559 Euro

Scope of Services

- Analyse of the existing information
- Evaluation of the information
- Basic design
- Economical study
- Environmental impact assessment
- Preliminary study
- Implementation of comments
- Final feasibility study

Brief Project Description

As a result of the project is expected to further regional integration between the south of the country and Bolivia through the south-eastern province of La Paz, facilitating trade between these regions, as well as the development of the area of direct influence of the road.

The objective of the feasibility study is to establish the main financial aspects of the project as location working technology, working schedule, financial management and financial analyse. Comparing the study will detail advantages and the cost of the option of the cost of the prefeasibility study. The feasibility study is divided in 4 sections economic aspects, technical aspects related to the engineering of the project, environmental impact assessment, evaluation and optimization of the selected option.

Further the study will show the positive influence of the project regarding the economic and social aspects in the area where the project will be implemented. The total length of the road included in the study is of 184 km.

